

In the interest of personal privacy, I urge the FCC support the Telephone Consumer Protection Act. All citizens should have the freedom to remove their names and phone numbers from telmarketers call lists. If American military personnel are being placed in harm's way to spread freedom, it seems contradictory to take it away from American citizens at home.